Company Update

on latest results and stock price

Lithuanian telecom giant Telia Lietuva reported a modest increase in 4Q'20 sales of 1.5%, which was positively influenced by ongoing trend of working and studying from home, as well as overall business digitalisation. But strict lockdowns, translating into the inability to travel, negatively influenced earnings as income from roaming service declined substantially. Company has reported flat EBITDA (+0.3%) and net profit (-0.7%), but a 2.3% increase in capex in 4Q'20, as it continued to invest in development of fixed network, in launch of 5G stations and in upgrades of IT systems. Further upgrades of Telia's base stations are to be expected. Company managed to expand its user base in 2020 within mobile and IPTV segments, which more than compensated for lost users in the fixed telephony. Free cash flow generation ability remained on a high level (FCF increased by 0.3% given reduced investments) and, therefore, the ability to continue paying decent dividends.
